Watch Your Diet Says Government

By United Press

Better watch your diet, ladies. The government predicts you'll be eating one to two more pounds of fat and oils this year.

The agriculture department says that civilian consumption will be up that much above last year's per capita rate of 41 and nine-tenths pounds. Except for 1950 consumption, this would be the greatest in 10 years.

Legion Convention To Hear Presidential Candidate Today

By United Press

The American Legion convention in New York has heard Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower today.

Stevenson's turn today, however, was not as dramatic as the Republican's. Stevenson's prepared for delivery of a presidential address, but the Democratic nominee was not to burn down the barn in order to kill the rats.

Stevenson says persons who for political or personal reasons attack the patriotism of the United States are as he puts it, the last refuge of scoundrels. Stevenson terms a shocking example of such tactics, the attacks which have been made on the loyalty and motives of former army chief of staff General George Marshall.

Stevenson is based on hatred of Russia but rather based on hatred of the American republic and the liberties it stands for. He says the United States has grown great because men were not afraid of new ideas.

In his speech to the Legion, the Democratic candidate says also that if he is elected he will resist pressures from organized groups, even veteran groups, if he thinks the demands are excessive or conflict with the interests of the nation as a whole.

Stevenson is scheduled to arrive in New York this morning to deliver his address to the Legionnaires this afternoon. During his eastern stay, the Illinois governor will make a round of speeches at party rallies before his Springfield campaign headquarters Friday.

On the Republican side, presidential nominee Eisenhower requires campaign conferences in New York. His visitors today include the President of the American Medical Association, a group of New York state Republicans and the head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Senator Taft of Ohio says he is ready to campaign for his former ally as soon as he returns to Washington from his vacation at Murray Bay in Canada.

Taft says Eisenhower has invited him to a campaign conference and that he has accepted for a mutually agreeable time after September 8th.

Another Recess Is Called In Talks

By United Press

The Korean truce men met for 33 minutes today, and decided to put the talks off for another week.

The recess, which is the fifth in a row, was demanded by the allies after the Reds accused the UN of "Persecuting" and slaughtering prisoners of war.

Major General William Harrison, the top allied negotiator, said there was "no agreement" at the meeting, and nothing to report on the deadlocked prisoner exchange issue.

According to the UN, five Red POW's were killed and 51 others were injured in a rash of incidents which took place on Kijong Island during the two weeks ending last Sunday. The allied prison camp commander, Major Gen. William Bostner, says the incidents were staged to embarrass the UN.

As Bostner put it, "there is no doubt the prisoners have agreed to create incidents." He added, "We have met every challenge with force."

Reports from the fighting front say it was heavily overcast in Korea during the day. It did not keep the allies from blasting a big enemy supply and storage base at the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Seven B-29's based at B-29's braved the clouds and radar-controlled anti-aircraft fire to drop their bombs on the 110-acre base. They had to use electronic aiming devices.

Enemy night fighters were sighted in the area. But they declined to challenge the superior fire-power of the giant B-29's.

John Rankin Loses Race In Mississippi

By United Press

The string has run out for Congressman John Rankin.

The 70-year-old Mississippi Democrat has been defeated in a primary contest with 49-year-old Representative Thomas Abernethy.

Rankin, an advocate of white supremacy, barely loses out in his bid for a 17th term in Congress—and his congressional career ends after 32 years.

Rankin conceded defeat after Abernethy ran up a six-thousand vote lead, with only 15 precincts unreported.

Mississippi voters also overwhelmingly favored standing pat on their 42-year-old prohibition law. The state legislature also has given a mandate to put some teeth in the law. Currently, it is easy to buy liquor in the state.

Mississippi thus remains one of the two dry states in the union. The other is Oklahoma.

Texas Republicans have put 15 Democratic candidates on their November ticket in an effort to split the Democratic ranks. Governor Allan Shivers and Democratic candidate for Senator Price Daniels are included on the GOP ballot. Both men have announced they will not vote for Stevenson because of his stand on the tide-land oil issue.

Republican candidate Eisenhower is in New York, working out plans for his campaign tour of the nation.

Starting September 1st, he will make a whirlwind airplane tour of 10 states in 10 days. It includes speeches in the south and midwest. Eisenhower will return to New York on September 10. And after more meetings, he will begin a morning stop tour to the west coast.

Eisenhower's nomination rival, Senator Taft, says he will campaign for the General. Taft returns to Washington from his vacation in Quebec on September 8.

Services To Be Resumed At College Presbyterian Church

Preaching services will be resumed at the College Presbyterian Church on Sunday, August 31, with Dr. A. H. Kopperud, pastor.

The church congregation extends an invitation for visitors to attend the preaching service and the Sunday School at ten o'clock.

Rev. And Mrs. John I. Byler Are Enjoying Kentucky Lake This Week With Eight Of Their Ten Children, And Families

An unusual family reunion is being held on the shores of Kentucky Lake this week. Thirty-four members of the Byler family are gathered there from several parts of the globe to renew comradeships and to be with one another for a week.

Six cabins have been rented on the lake and the entire family, headed by Rev. and Mrs. John I. Byler of Chicago are congregated there.

There is nothing unusual about a family reunion, but the unusual thing about this particular family is that of the ten children of Rev. and Mrs. Byler, five of the boys are ministers and one is a music director. One of the four girls is a missionary, one a teacher, one a nurse, and the fourth the wife of a minister.

Rev. S. E. Byler, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church said that he realized that Kentucky Lake would be an excellent place for the gathering of the family and extended an invitation almost a year ago to meet here.

The large group arrived on Monday, thirty four strong for a week's reunion. Rev. and Mrs. Byler, parents of the ten children are present for the reunion. Rev. Byler has been an ordained minister for more than forty-five years. During that period he and Mrs. Byler raised and educated their ten children, and have lived to see them dedicated to and working in the service of the Lord.

The oldest of the Byler children is Harold. He and his wife, Louise came to Murray from Galax, Virginia where they make their home. Harold is an accomplished pianist and is in demand as director of music for evangelistic services. He is also active in church work in his home town.

His wife is a teacher in the Junior High School in Galax.

James and Orpha Kutnow and their son Jimmy, age four come from Philadelphia. James is an investment broker, while Orpha, the eldest daughter of the clan is a teacher of English in the Eastern Baptist College.

John Jr., his wife Lois, and their three daughters, Joyce, 10, Joanne, 8, and Judy, 4, are from New Lebanon, Ohio. John is pastor of the Brethren church there.

Elmore, or Rev. S. E. Byler, is the pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church of Murray. Rev. Byler and Mrs. Byler are hosts for the reunion, with their children John 11, and Philip 8.

Mary, the second daughter, is a wife at the Mollie Stark Sanatorium in Canton, Ohio.

June, who could not be present for the reunion, is a missionary in Cordoba, Argentina, South America.

James the fourth son, is pastor of the First Baptist Church at Cleveland, Tennessee. He and his wife, Shirley, and children Jean 4 and Libby 2 are present for the gathering here.

David and his wife Darlene, and two children Michael 6 and Cynthia 3, come from Kingsport, Tennessee, where David is assistant pastor and Minister of Music in the First Baptist church.

Robert, a missionary from Buenos Aires, Argentina, could not be present for the reunion. Robert directs a religious broadcast, and teaches in a seminary, while at the same time ministering to a congregation there.

His wife Jane and three children Susan 7, David 3, and Stephen 1, flew to Chicago from Buenos Aires, so they could be present for the reunion.

The youngest daughter, Carol Roth, her husband Roy, and three children Veronica 5, Rebecca 4 and Jill 2 came to the reunion from Heston, Kansas, where Rev. Roth is president-elect of Heston College.

The reunion this year is the first one in four years for the large family and it is being thoroughly enjoyed according to Rev. Byler of the local church.

There are sixteen grandchildren, with all of them being under eleven years of age. Several of the children have never seen one another so the reunion will be especially enjoyable to them.

Rev. and Mrs. John I. Byler, the parents of the successful children, are still home missionaries in Chicago.

Construction Ban Removed On Pools

By United Press

The Government has pulled the plug on its construction ban against new swimming pools.

The two year old prohibition against building pools, bowling alleys, theatres and other recreational facilities comes to an end next April 1st. However, the National Production Authority says its all right for bidders to go ahead and put in their orders for steel, aluminum and copper to be used after next spring. The government was expected to relax this earlier, but agency officials say the steel strike forced a delay in lifting the prohibition.

The NPA says that military orders delayed by the steel strike must be caught up by the end of December. This, the agency says, makes it unlikely the ban on new recreational facilities can be lifted before April, 1952.

In New York, the giant United States Steel Company says the recent 55-day strike cut its earnings in half during the second quarter of 1952. US Steel chairman Benjamin Fairless says his company's earnings for the second quarter this year fell to a little over 22-million dollars, as compared to some 58 million dollars for the same period in 1951. Fairless says that US Steel operated at 61 per cent of capacity during the second quarter of 1952, which brought common share earnings down to 61 cents.

Robbed Into Jail

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—When J. D. Parsons reported the theft of $12 and a woman's suit to police, he soon found himself in jail. Detectives went to investigate, then arrested Parsons on charges of drunkenness, possessing whiskey and carrying a pistol.

Inquiring Reporter

QUESTION: Do you think television is reducing the amount of time spent in reading?

ANSWERS:

Mrs. Pat Carson—I would say that it does in our family.

Mrs. E. S. Outland—No, not with the kind of recreation we get here.

Jimmy Lee—Certainly think so.

Mrs. Rob Lamb—Yes, I really do.

Mrs. James Payne—Yes, it not only takes up the time spent in reading, but in lots of other things, playing cards, going anywhere and etc.

than the tense, one-run game where each play and every decision is so important to the outcome.

IT IS a fact that the sensational Cardinal right-hander Stu Miller who came within one pitch of becoming the first pitcher in modern National League history to pitch shutouts in his first two major league games, was too small to make his high school baseball team 5 years ago. That some sources say that Dodger first baseman Gil Hodges might be on the block during the winter, especially if Charley Dresen remains as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is a possibility. That the Pirates may have their turn to pitch next year as several of the better young players return from service.

That's 30 for now, be seeing you on these pages again next week. Until then, remember, this sport is to be a good one.

Rare Swan Shows Increase In The Nation

Albert M. Day, Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, today announced that the rare trumpeter swan, once threatened with extinction in this country, now shows a United States population of 371 birds. A census taken last month by Fish and Wildlife Service and National Park Service personnel revealed an increase of 36 trumpeters over last year's count of 335. All United States areas where this graceful snow-white creature with the melodious call is known to exist were covered in the census. In nearly all cases the birds were found on or near Federal sanctuaries, the creation of which began in 1935 when the number of swans hit a precarious low of 72 birds and special conservation areas were seen to be called for. A breakdown of this year's census figures, exclusive of experimental area tabulations, reveals the following:

In Montana, 407 swans were counted. Fish and Wildlife Service.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
EVE OPENED the door to three "Nance". She held out both hands in a pretty gesture of welcome, then glanced at Ralph. The bright smile became fixed. But only for a moment. She turned gravely to Nance and greeted her with the introduction.

It was revealing. There were things in Nance's past she was keeping quiet! Whatever else it was, this was not an honest marriage. Nance felt a surge of pity for Jeremy. She hadn't known she would be sorry for him, and the emotion, crowding out everything else as he got up and came towards them, helped her through the difficult meeting.

"Jeremy, this is Ralph Hillard." The men shook hands.

"You're looking well," Jeremy said to Nance.

"You, too." The polite amenities. Jeremy didn't look well. He looked too thin, drawn, and a nerve ticked at his temple. And I, Nance thought, have lost five pounds. It's a little too much for me. The silly things you said to bridge discomfort!

But Eve looked wonderful. Her hair was a glossy cap, her eyes brilliant, and she had on a long black dress, strapless to show off her shoulders. A little too formal, Nance thought, but if Eve kept it didn't bother her.

Eve motioned Jeremy to unfold a card table, brought ash trays, two decks of cards, a silver bowl of mints.

Cards dealt away with intimate talk. Nance discovered that Eve owned her eyes to study your suit without being too obvious about reading another's eyes. You could put everything out of your mind, but the meticulous arrangement of hearts, diamonds, clubs, spades. For could add up honors, weigh things against a compass, your hand behind an upraised fan. Oh, cards were a definite ally!

Nance was Eve's partner. Eve was an excellent player, although her voice and movements suggested a bored, bored, bored thought. Then, when Nance saw the play, yummy, she saw it. So deft, so quick, that Nance told herself an instant later it was an illusion. But that drive of diamonds had not been in the dummy's hand! Automatically Nance had counted the cards, and that piece of diamonds came from the dummy. Eve had promised it. Nance felt uncomfortable.

Lola trumped a club with the best of spades. Eve overtrumped vice's Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge accounted for 230 of these, while 168 birds were tallied in the surrounding npr-Refuge area.

A total of 83 trumpeters was listed for Wyoming. Of these, 69 States population of 371 birds.

In Idaho, 70 of the swans were found to be in residence, as against 64 at the time of last year's census. Abundant in this country during the last century, the swans numbers dwindled to such an extent that the bird became known as one of America's vanishing species.

Since the average trumpeter weighs 30 pounds, has a wingspread of 8 feet, and flies close to the ground, the bird has made an easy target for gunners. Heavy trading in the birds down and breast skin has thinned the trumpeter ranks. Destruction of the swan's breeding grounds by farm and ranching interests has added to the trumpeter's depletion and in the early 1900's the species was believed actually to be extinct.

In 1907, when small flocks of the swans were discovered at Red Rock Lakes in Montana and Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, restoration efforts were begun by the Federal Government. Protection of the bird by law, whereby the taking of swans or their eggs was banned, became effective in 1924. In 1935 the Red Rock Lakes Migratory Waterfowl Refuge was established on the Fish and Wildlife Service property to insure the perpetuation of the species. Subsequently the Service transplanted a few swans to its Malheur National Wildlife Refuge in Oregon and to its Ruess Lake National Wildlife Refuge in Nevada for the purpose of starting new nesting colonies.

This year's census, as in previous years, was conducted at the conclusion of the breeding season in order that all newcomers to the trumpeter ranks might be included in the count.

BLASTING CAP DANGER IS CITED BY OLDHAM

FRANKFORT, Ky. — "Many children are being needlessly injured in blasting cap accidents," Commissioner of State Police Charles C. Oldham warned today.

Oldham described blasting caps as bright copper or aluminum tubes, about as thick as a needle, and an inch and a half to five inches long. The tube is loaded with an explosive used to detonate dynamite.

Oldham asked blasters and all users of the caps to keep them locked in a safe place. He advised parents to keep a watchful eye on children, especially in areas where blasting is underway.

REGISTRATION BOOKS TO CLOSE SEPTEMBER 5

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Registration books for the November election will close September 5, and persons whose names are not on the voter registration roll may not vote, Attorney General J. D. Buckman, Jr. reminded today.

To spur increased voter participation in government, civic groups over the State have joined in a drive to register eligible persons not registered to vote or who have moved into new precincts since the preceding election.

"We commend the movement on the part of so many public-spirited groups in urging greater participation in government—and in getting all potential voters properly registered," Buckman said.

To be eligible for registration, one must be a citizen of the United States, a resident of Kentucky a year, have lived in the county of residence at least six months and in the precinct 60 days.

It'll come when you call!

The Murray Rose Club Has Had Variety Of Meetings During Spring, Summer Months

By Mrs. E. C. Parker Club Reporter

The Murray Rose Club has been busy during the spring and summer months. In spite of hot and dry weather delightful meetings have been held each month.

The program committee for the year should be complimented on the entertaining programs planned. This committee which is composed of Mrs. L. E. Owen, Mrs. V. E. Windsor and Mrs. Ed Huie, compiled the beautiful yearbook which is designed in colors of rose and green and filled with future programs to which the members have looked forward with great anticipation.

Mrs. Beale Hostess

Mrs. E. J. Beale entertained the club in her lovely home on the Colwater Road for the April meeting. The program consisted of a preview of the sixth annual session of the Audubon Region of the Garden Club of Kentucky. Thank you letters were read from the regional officers expressing their appreciation of the Rose Club.

Meet at Mrs. Hendon's

Mrs. Carrie Hendon was hostess to the May meeting. Mrs. M. O. Wraether gave a lecture on new roses demonstrating with beautiful specimens from her garden and the gardens of the hostess and other members.

Reports were given of the Flower Arrangement School in Paducah. Those attending were Mrs. Ed Huie, Mrs. A. F. Doran and Mrs. G. B. Scott. Mrs. Huie announced a Flower Judging School at Paris on June 3-5.

The program was a review of the pilgrimage to Memphis, Tenn., viewing Iris Hybridizers gardens. Mesdames Scott, Windsor and Owen, assisted these iris fields and reported on the newest and finest varieties.

At the close of the meeting members visited the garden of the hostess.

Luncheon

In June Mrs. R. H. Hood favored the members of the Rose Club with a dessert luncheon. Places were laid for twelve members. Beautiful summer floral arrangements were used throughout the house.

Mrs. L. E. Owen presented the program on "Old Fashioned Gardens." She used for her material Dr. Gordon Wilson's book, "Fidelity Folks," which in reality is a story of the first families in Concord, Ky. Her beautiful descriptions of their gardens and how they began made it really "home-folks" to us. Mrs. Owen also used an article, "My Grandmother's Garden" from the Saturday Evening Post.

Kenlake Breakfast

The outstanding meeting of the summer was in July when Mrs. Ed Huie had members as her guests for breakfast at the Kenlake Hotel. The table was beautifully decorated with large chrysanthemums in shades of yellow and bronze arranged in a straw basket container.

After enjoying the bountiful breakfast the members assembled in the sun room where a business meeting was held.

Littleton Home Meet

The August meeting was held in the home of Mrs. J. E. Littleton. The president announced that the State Federation dues should be increased to fifty cents as of October 1. A round table discussion followed concerning civic improvement and highway beautification.

The program was given by Mrs. H. C. Corn. Her subject was "Tree Planting."

The Murray Rose Club was organized June 28, 1950, with fifteen charter members. The officers are Mrs. G. B. Scott, president; Mrs. A. F. Doran, vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Corn, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. O. Wraether, corresponding secretary.

The club has as its object to promote the beautification of home grounds with emphasis on the study of rose and other flowers.

Each member has as her special project the cultivation of her choice flower. She collects information and interesting articles for her scrapbook of her chosen flower.
